New detour beginning on Fort Smith

March 30, 2008— The City of Deltona would like to alert motorists that the contractor responsible for the Fort Smith Boulevard Roadway Improvement Project will set up a new detour beginning today (March 30) on Fort Smith Boulevard.

The detour will route through traffic off of Fort Smith Boulevard between India Boulevard and Preston Avenue. Traffic will be detoured onto Leeward Drive. This detour may be in place for approximately three months to accommodate the installation of a deep storm drainage system and while Fort Smith is widened in this area. Storm drainage construction will begin at Tradewinds Drive and move to the west towards India Boulevard.

Access will be provided for local residents, the two churches and several small businesses in this area but access points may change as construction activity progresses.

There is an additional storm drainage and roadway reconstruction project on Fort Smith Boulevard east of Preston Avenue that will require single-lane closures.

Motorists are encouraged to drive with caution in these areas, watch for crews and follow signage and directions.
