DELTONA LIBRARY CELEBRATES BLACK HISTORY MONTH

The Deltona Regional Library will celebrate Black History Month with a free "See Families Read" program at 2 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 22, at Wes Crile Park, 1537 Norbert Terrace, Deltona.

Children's librarian Jackie Hannick will lead a discussion of the book "Show Way" by Jacqueline Woodson, an award-winning author of books for children and young adults. Community leaders Mary Allen, Jackie Brockington, Calvin Martin and Lucille Wheatley will read passages from the book.

Refreshments and a book-related crafts will follow the readings.

Thanks to a donation from the Walmart on Howland Boulevard, every family registered by Feb. 7 will receive a free hardbound copy of the book.

Space is limited. Pre-register at the Deltona Regional Library or by calling (386) 789-7207, ext. 26. The library is open in temporary modular units on Daytona State College's Deltona campus as it undergoes an $11.7 million expansion project.
